Traffic Jams to Ease

In spite of the threatened shortage of gasoline and the unconscionable increase in prices by the Big 4 oil firms, highway traffic gets heavier and heavier.

Those who drive the morning starting time and evening quitting time shifts are being frustrated by the slow and frequently stopped traffic.

The beaches, formerly easily accessible, are now plugged with autoists seeking the "better life" which San Diego has always provided though it's harder to get to now.

Certainly, there are more motorists today. There are more people in San Diego and their number will continue to grow. California's highway program was one of the most forward-looking in the nation and for years highways were built to keep up with the demand. It was said that highly developed areas would become a "sea of concrete" but that was a slight exaggeration. Without the spaghetti ramps and their approaches, communities would become a sea of backed-up traffic.

Now, the problem is bad and getting worse.

Assemblyman Peter Chacon is as disturbed as those of us caught up in this bottleneck of more vehicles and no additional roadways.

For the first time in 60 years, says Chacon, the Legislature has reaffirmed its control over the highway budget.

"The governor has stricken $91 million from the highway account, including almost two-thirds of the money earmarked by the Legislature for highway construction," he reports.

In May, the Assembly and the Senate voted to reinstate legislative authority over the billion dollar highway budget after a long absence from this field.

Until Governor Brown usurped authority over the highway funds highway construction was booming and the Highway Commission had ample resources to proceed with most projects.

"Today, the situation is reversed," Chacon notes. "The Commission lack a staff to adequately oversee highway planning and construction; the Director of the Department of Transportation (DOT) is frequently at odds with the Commission's findings; the Brown Administration is downplaying the importance of highways; and resources are growing scarce."

DOT has been criticized for lack of fiscal responsibility and bad management by the Little Hoover Commission and the Legislative Analyst, A. Alan Post.

CALTRANS, says Chacon, has a monopoly on program information and the integrity of that information is constantly being questioned from within and from without the state government. It's our billion dollars they're playing cat-and-mouse with.

"Experts in the field contend that the Department is so poorly organized that the Division Directors of CALTRANS' 11 districts are often uncertain where the responsibility lies in compiling information or making decisions to keep the program functioning smoothly," Chacon says.

There is a possibility of improving this sorry situation.

There are 2 measures by which control would be made a matter of the state budget and it would be removed from the hands of the Commission. Chacon believes it would reduce the possibility of "pork barreling" to a minimum—a process by which projects are approved on a purely political basis.

The new bills, AB 402 and SB 182 would require funding of entire programs rather than specific projects.

"Legislative control would offer the public a better understanding of the process. In the past, money decisions were made primarily between governors, DOT directors and the Highway Commission. Legislative control would bring decisions out into the open in legislative committee where the public could participate.

"Budget amounts could be changed or deleted only by a veto by the governor—thereby requiring a stated reason for doing so," said Chacon.

These measures will be a major concern of the Legislature which reconvened this week.

In it is the long awaited completion of the Sweetwater rd. freeway which would feed into 94 and a tunnel under State 8 at Grossmont by which those being transported to Grossmont hospital would save 8-10 minutes—a difference between life and death in some instances.

Of course, Gov. Brown's veto should be anticipated. If it comes, it will indicate that he cares less for people than he does for the power inherent in the position of the governor of the State of California.

Water Conservation Kits Sent to Area Residents

The California Department of Water Resources, San Diego City and County officials may spend more sending out to area resident public relations gimmicks to get people to cut water use than the Helix Water District spends for 13 weeks worth of water from the Metropolitan Water District.

The State water people announced July 25 they were beginning an $800,000 test project to distribute free water saving kits to some 374,000 households in San Diego County.

Targeted in the six week program will be the cities of Lemon Grove, San Diego, Carlsbad, Del Mar, El Cajon, and San Marcos.

The goal of the kits is to reduce consumption by 10 per cent.

According to Helix Water District statistician, Jim Matteson, consumers in the Helix Water District are using 13 per cent less water than was formerly anticipated.

On July 25, Helix officials calculated the amount of water to be used between July 18 and 25 to be about 889 acre feet or about two per cent more than during the same period last year when about 871 acre feet were used.

The cost of 889 acre feet of water now running at $69 per acre foot was calculated at more than $61,000.

At that rate, the Helix Water District could buy 13 weeks worth of water, or $793,000 worth for about the same money.

Matteson said consumption levels were running "quite a bit below" last year in most cases.

Matteson said the peak last year occurred during the week ending on June 27. During that week of the summer of 1976, the temperature rose to 97 degrees and water users drew 1250 acre feet of water. In gallons, the amount used was about 60 million gallons.

Council Invokes Urgency Ordinance

Unused Zoning Permits Revoked

The Lemon Grove City Council Monday night revoked all unused zoning permits that have not been activated by starting work on the project the permits were issued for.

It was only part of a grab-bag of items that carried the council and its audience of approximately 50 through a long, hot evening.

The council listened to a presentation made by members of the Land Use and Environmental Regulation Agency (LEUR) and another by Mary Seaton, of the County Citizens Participation organization. Both were informative but long. It took more than an hour.

From the 7:30 p.m. opening to its 10:30 close, the council ran a gamut of matters. They closed the meeting for an executive session at which the council was to discuss applications for the post of City Clerk.

Innovations

Two innovations were made Monday. Councilman Jack Doherty suffered a double setback when the council rejected proposals for the first time.

Mayor Jim Dorman signed his first proclamation by making it "Meals on Wheels" week.

The setbacks for Doherty came when he requested that an urgency ordinance be changed or delayed in the interest of a convalescent home development on Palm st. The ordinance would revoke outstanding zoning permits requiring those holding such permits without having exercised them to apply to the council for renewal. The vote was 4-1.

He had fronted for the same facility in June when the council was advisory to the

How Revocation Affects Owners

The Lemon Grove City Council Monday night by passing the urgency ordinance rescinding all zoning permits and variances which have not been put into operation, served notice that it would study seriously any variations from the community plan over which many persons labored hard and long.

Mayor Dorman explained that in most cases zoning permit holders merely had to appear before the council to get the revoked permit revitalized.

Councilman Dale Bailey said that "we have an obligation to protect the public as well as those who want to develop their land."

Those holding permits must be prepared to provide evidence that work has been started on the project provided for in the permit.

Those holding such permits may want to discuss it with officer Tom Parks.

He is at City Hall, 464-6934.

G'mont Trustee Sentenced to 5 Years in Prison

Former Grossmont Union High School District Trustee and El Cajon attorney Robert Andreen was sentenced Monday to serve five years in federal prison for his role in a labor union pension fund embezzlement scheme.

Andreen, 51, was found guilty May 27 of four counts including conspiracy to embezzle and aiding and abetting embezzlement of labor union pension trust funds.

All counts stemmed from Andreen's involvement as legal advisor to officers of various trusts' handling pension fund accounts for San Diego Local 89 of the International Laborers Union of North America.

Also found guilty were ten other defendants.

Andreen told U.S. District Judge Gordon Thompson Jr. he wanted to apologize to the legal profession and to the bench for "my involvement in this matter."

Judge Thompson also turned down a request to allow Andreen to serve his time in a public service project organizing mental health programs. Andreen is the former president of the San Diego Mental Health Assn.

School Budget Hearing Tonight

The Lemon Grove School governing board will be looking at a budget of more than $5 million tonight at the official hearing for the 1977-1978 budget, according to Henry Reinecke, board president.

Citizens who may want to comment will have an opportunity to do so at this time, he said.

The meeting will be at 8 p.m. at the Education Center, 8025 Lincoln ave.

Copy of the budget is available for study prior to the hearing at the Center.

The new operating expenses budget is for $5,278,000; $124,000 higher than the one for the year just ending.

Board of Supervisors.

He was only slightly more successful (3-2) in his suggested make up of a screening committee for a city manager. The council wanted council representatives on the committee.

Doherty, after distributing his "manager profile" document, had urged the screening committee to be made up of other city managers, and Tom Parks, liaison officer to Lemon Grove City on loan from the county.

Councilman Dell Lake voted with Doherty. The other three men voted for councilmen as representation.

Resolutions OK'd

The council, in other business, turned down the SD&AE RR offer to sell to the city 35 feet of surplus land on the west side of its track and 15 feet on the east for $2 a square foot. Mayor Dorman estimated the cost to be approximately a half-million dollars. Dorman said the negotiator for the railroad had suggested that the city install meters and use the area for paid parking. "They (citizens) would lynch us if we did," Dorman said.

A resolution authorizing the transfer of $6,000 from the County's Parkland funds to the City for lights for the L.G. Jr. High School ball field passed unanimously. Dr. Burns asked that a resolution be prepared so that the entire parkland fund would be turned over to the city.

In another resolution: The Lemon Grove Review became the official newspaper for the city with legal notices to be published therein.

Appointed certain county officers to serve as city officers—for example: the county engineer.

Directed the preparation of a general plan based on the Lemon Grove community plan.

Adopted S.D. County procedures for environmental impact review.

All councilmen indicated they would attend the League of California Cities state meeting in San Francisco August 25-28.

Councilman Dale Bailey asked they would attend the League of California Cities state meeting in San Francisco August 25-28.

The council went into executive session at 10:30 p.m.

The next meeting will be August 15 at the L.G. Education Center.

Lemon Grove Viewed In SD CoC EcoStudy

The San Diego Chamber of Commerce July ECONOMIC BULLETIN spotlights Lemon Grove and the picture looks bright.

Two pages of 6 total are devoted to the community.

Lemon Grove merchants did $67.9 million in taxable sales in 1976. Retail sales accounted for 78 percent of the total. Sales increased 17 percent. Adjusted for inflation it shows at "real" 10.7 gain. The gain countywide was only 9.2 percent, the study shows.

The figure is more significant since retail outlets in Lemon Grove increased only 5 percent while the county rose 9 percent.

Family income in 1974 was $11,785 while countywide it was $10,982.

In 1975 there were 3,995 workers employed in the community while there were 7,431 total workers. Obviously, a large number work in other parts of the county.

In January 1977 the overall vacancy rate of Lemon Grove's housing dropped to 1.5 percent, down 1.4 percentage points from the year before.

With less vacancies, new residential construction showed an increase. In 1976 182 new units were constructed, up 12 percent.

Total valuation of $8.7 million showed an increase of 115 percent.

The market price for existing single family homes jumped 18.2 percent over 1975. The appreciation rate countywide, however, was only 13.9 percent.

These figures, together with 9 charts, give an interesting picture of Lemon Grove's viability.

Ask Doctor

Q. Could you please explain the cause of impotence? My husband has this problem and refuses to get help. What would you advise, since he is quite firm about refusing to talk to anyone?

A. (Dr. Peale) Since I am not a physician it would be improper for me to try to diagnose your husband's trouble. He should of course see a doctor.

I understand, however, that impotence is sometimes related to psychological problems and therefore it might be advisable for him to consult a counselor to explore possible tensions that might be interfering with normal functions.

If he refuses to do that, you can help by getting such counseling yourself, for the tension could be in you. A psychologist or psychiatrist could possibly explain the tensions that aggravate impotence.

Widen Friendship

Q. I am 15 years old and the guy I like is 17 years old. I have like him for about five years.

He seems to show very little interest in me, but he tells his mother that he likes me. I do and have done almost anything I can for him.

I am a very jealous person. I don't really have any reason to be jealous, because he doesn't take very much interest in girls. I have been hoping that he will ask me to go with him. I am also very shy. I need all the advice you can give. I need help very badly.

A. If we were you, we would not waste any more time waiting for this boy to ask you to go with him. Get busy and start going with other boys.

That will accomplish one of two things: 1) it may shock him into action, and that will show whether he really likes you, or 2) it will turn up some other nice boy who does like you and shows it.

TO WED — Ceremonies are set for August 20 which will unite Leslie Lynn Seba of Chandler, Arizona and Theodore Robert Updike, the son of Mrs. Marilyn Acheson of 1815 Sweetwater road, Spring Valley.

The bride attended Mesa Community College and is currently completing her teaching degree at Arizona State University in Tempe.

The groom is a 1972 graduate of Mt. Miguel High School and a 1975 graduate in Criminal Justice from Arizona State University. Updike is currently employed by a Superior Court judge in Phoenix.

The couple plan to make their home in San Diego where he will be attending California Western School of law and she will be student teaching.

County to Hold Meeting Tonight

Proposed Zoning Ordinance Cost Taxpayers $250,000

The County in a meeting tonight will open to public inspection a $250,000 rewrite of the San Diego County Zoning Ordinance done by a San Francisco urban and environmental planning firm.

The meeting, scheduled for 7 p.m. in the South Chambers of the County Administration Center, 1600 Pacific Highway, will attempt to explain the new document to interested citizens and will open the floor up for ideas.

According to Dan C. Cherrier of the San Diego County Department of Land Use and Environmental Regulation (LEUR), the department in 1974 hired Seway and Cooke, Urban and Environmental Planners and Designers, 400 Pacific ave., San Francisco, to revise the document.

Cherrier said the old zoning ordinance, last revised in 1954, had so many recent amendments it became difficult for the public to understand, hard to administer, and impossible to use to carry out provisions of the County General Plan.

The zoning ordinance is the actual law which sets aside areas for homes, agriculture, industry, and commerce.

The County General Plan, scheduled to be adopted by the Board of Supervisors in late August, is the document the county will use to further amend the zoning ordinance.

Even though the Community Plans essentially were gathering the same information, the Board of Supervisors decided in 1973 to hire the private, San Francisco based firm.

According to Cherrier, the Supervisors hired the firm because they believed the state law would be broken by applying the old zoning ordinance to a new County General Plan.

State law, Cherrier said, now requires conformity between zoning ordinances and general plans.

According to Sedway and Cooke, the developers of the ordinance rewrite, their document is essentially the same yet make new applications.

"Among the major requirement for new zoning regulations for San Diego County is an ability to respond to an extraordinary large number of issues and policies for highly diverse communities and geographic settings," the firm wrote in a Summary of Concepts for Proposed San Diego County Zoning Regulations.

"This basic need of San Diego's ordinance brought about a thorough re-evaluation of the standard zoning form, format, and approach," the firm continued, "the result is an ordinance which uses the traditional tools of zoning, but arranges and applies them in new ways."

Other meetings on the new ordinance will be held at the Administration Center on August 17 and 31.

Van Raps Carter's Alien Amnesty Plan

The Carter Administration's plan of dealing with the problem of illegal aliens is "an almost impossible balancing act" in the eyes of Democratic Rep. Lionel Van Deerlin.

Van Deerlin said that although he could applaud certain features of the plan, he considers the amnesty proposed for illegal aliens who entered the country between January 1970 and 1977 an addition to "our own unemployment rolls and further burden (on) our welfare system."

Van Deerlin also predicted that Congress will opt for a tougher approach than the administration in dealing with employers who knowingly and repeatedly hire illegal aliens.

Van Deerlin says he still favors the so-called Rodino Bill, which would provide jail terms to persons hiring illegal aliens three or more times.

HOME COOKED This Week's RECIPE

Cheddar-Frank Sandwich

To be perfectly frank, the hot dog was invented in 1883 by a cool-headed sausage maker named Anton Feuchtwanger.

Feuchtwanger had a problem serving his hot wares and decided to offer white gloves to customers to keep them from burning their hands.

The costs for gloves soared. Had it not been for Feuchtwanger's wife, who suggested putting them on buns, the sandwich would never have been born.

The frankfurter on a roll did not become the "hot dog" until the early 1900's when a sports cartoonist named T. A. Dorgan coined the term.

This week's recipe is a different way to serve the dog.

Open-Face Cheddar-Frank Sandwich

6 ounces frankfurter, boiled, cut in half and sliced lengthwise
4 English muffins, split and toasted
4 ounces grated cheddar cheese
4 ounces sliced onion
1 medium tomato, sliced
Preheat oven to 400 degrees F. Divide frankfurters into four 1½ ounce portions. Place half of each portion on each muffin half.

Top each with ½ ounce cheese. Place on a non-stick baking pan. Bake four minutes or until cheese is melted. Serve remaining ingredients. Makes four servings.

Antics Were Finale of SDSU Clownology Class

The last commencement of San Diego State University's clowns was held yesterday in the Open Air Theatre on the SDSU campus.

The class, according to a spokesman for the SDSU Department of Recreation — the former sponsor, will move to the University of California, San Diego this fall.

The class began in 1974 through the efforts of its instructor, Rich Wise who is otherwise known as Curly the Clown.

Since inception, the class has grown and received acclaim as being the only one of its kind offered from a U.S. university. More than 220 students have taken part in the course.

Among the graduates from the last clown class were clowns ranging in ages from 15 to 59 years. Women dominated the last class outnumbering the men 22 to four.

Each student in the class was required to develop a clown personality including costume, make-up, and name. Twice a week for eight weeks the apprentice clowns met to practice make-up application, character development, pantomime, skits, social recreation planning, costume design and other topics.

Spring Valley's representative in the class, Susan Brigadier, developed the personality called "Co Co Nuts". Co Co Nuts along with other personalities called "Toodles", "Hot

Child Care Costs Now Deductible Says IRS

The Internal Revenue Service has lifted the ban on deducting business expenses for baby sitting or handicapped person care in homes.

Formerly, the law specified deductions for business uses for child care would only be allowed in those parts of the home set aside specifically for that purpose.

The bill, signed into law on May 23, applies to tax years after December 31, 1975.

However, officials for the IRS said after September 1 the exemption will apply only to day care centers which meet state licensing, certification, and approval standards.

Form 1040X is available from any IRS office and is used for claiming the deduction.

Kits (Con't)

Matteson said the peak so far this summer has been recorded during the week of July 18-25 when Helix water users consumed some 45.5 million gallons.

The statistician did predict the gallon usage to top 50 million before mid-August, yet still well below 1976 peak usage figures.

According to Marcie MacLeod, spokesman for the conservation project, the kits' three fold mission is to 1) reduce water use in showers and toilets, 2) conduct a marketing test to determine which method of distributing the kits is most effective in saving water, and 3) to test the effectiveness of the various water-saving devices.

The kits contain two plastic bottles which may be placed in the reserve tank of toilets. Also included is a small plastic disc to be placed inside the shower head to retard the flow of water.

Postcards were sent July 25 to Lemon Grove residents included in the 374,000 households in the test area. These cards told residents where to pick up the free kits.

The idea for the project came from State Assemblyman Eugene Gualco who authored the bill to allocate $600,000 for the project. An additional $200,000 came from San Diego city and county bank accounts.

No reason was given why San Diego, at the end of the water pipeline which also serves the Los Angeles metropolitan area and tucked away in the desert, was chosen for the only test project in the state.

The kits will be distributed in Lemon Grove by workers going door to door.

There will also be project depots and a 24 hour hot-line. The hot-line phone number is 236-4949.

Youth Listed Critical From S.V. Accident

A sixteen year old San Diego youth remains in critical condition in Grossmont Hospital's surgical intensive care unit from head injuries he sustained Saturday in a Spring Valley traffic accident.

According to a California Highway Patrol spokesman, Cannon was driving north on Bancroft drive about 8:30 p.m. The Cannon auto passed another vehicle on a curve, lost control and spun into the southbound lane striking a car driven by Gerald Saterbak, 57, of 10452 Fairhill drive, Spring Valley.

Both Cannon and Saterbak were treated and released from Grossmont Hospital.

Lillian Sorenson, 70, a passenger in the Saterbak auto, and Lance Lee Williams, 16, of La Mesa, were also treated and released from Grossmont.

CalAm Water

The Sweetwater Water Authority, buying the privately owned Calif. American Water Co. will sell $22.5 million in bonds to finance the purchase.

Sweetwater directors promised in May during a water revenue bond election, to reduce rates 3-6 percent. Instead, it was reported, rates will be increased 4.7 percent. To make the bonds saleable, rates may go up 10 percent, it was also said.

CalAm serves 29,000 customers in the National City-Chula Vista area.

Grid Rule Changes, Bowl Dates, Listed

The Orange Bowl in Miami, will be the site of Super Bowl XIII on Sunday, January 21, 1979, and the Rose Bowl in Pasadena will be the site of Super Bowl XIV on Sunday, January 20, 1980, NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle announced.

The 28 club representatives also selected Los Angeles as the host city for the AFC-NFC Pro Bowl on Monday, January 29, 1979 and Honolulu, Hawaii for the Sunday, January 27, 1980 interconference All-Star game. The 1979 game will be played in the Los Angeles Memorial Coliseum and the '80 game in Hawaii's Aloha Stadium.

The commissioner's office also listed principal rules changed for 1977-78:

Made it illegal to strike an opponent above the shoulders (head slap) during the initial charge of a defensive lineman.

Made it illegal for an offensive lineman to thrust his hands to an opponent's neck, face or head.

Made it illegal for a back who lines up inside his tight end to break to the outside and then cut back inside to deliver a block below the waist of an opponent (extension of crackback rule).

If a punting team commits a foul before its opponent takes possession and the receiving team subsequently commits a foul, the penalties offset each other and the down is replayed (exception to clean hands rule).

Chargers Pre-Season Opens in Dallas Set

The San Diego Chargers, eighteen days into their seventeenth season in San Diego, began preparations today for their first game on the home field of the Dallas Cowboys.

The Chargers will play the Cowboys at 6 p.m. S.D. time Saturday night in Texas Stadium, located in Irving, a suburb at Dallas.

The game will be telecast live on Channel 6 in San Diego with Tom Kelley and Dave Levy at the microphones. CHARGERS TALK, hosted by Jack Smith and Bruce Walton, will begin the radio broadcast by KSDO (1130) at 4 p.m. This program will be followed by THE TOMMY PROTHRO SHOW at 5:35 p.m. Jerry Gross and John DeMott will broadcast the game.

The Chargers and Cowboys have met once in the pre-season and once in the regular season and they have been yearly opponents in rookie scrimmage in the Southern California area. The Cowboys train in Thousand Oaks, about 150 miles north of the Chargers' U.C.S.D. training base.

The Cowboys defeated the Chargers 20-10 in the opening game of the 1970 pre-season at San Diego Stadium and they scored a 34-28 victory over the Chargers in the 1972 regular season before a crowd of 54,476 persons, fourth largest turnout in the 10-year history of San Diego Stadium.

Cowboy rookies and some selected veterans defeated the Chargers' rookies and selected veterans three touchdowns to two touchdowns in the teams' annual summer exercise July 21 at the University of California at Irvine.

Running back Larry Barnes, number 6B draft choice from Tennessee State, gained 79 yards in 12 carries for the Chargers in that scrimmage, but Barnes will not be visible in Dallas. He sustained a broken fibula July 28 when tackled by linebacker Woodrow Lowe in practice.

"We've had an excellent camp so far," said Chargers coach Prothro, who sent his athletes through their annual intrasquad scrimmage July 30 at San Diego Stadium. "We have about as much talent as anyone," Prothro added, "but we don't have the maturity that the championship teams have."

Prothro singled out guard Doug Wilkerson, linebacker Gary (Big Hands) Johnson for their strong play in the intrasquad scrimmage.

McIntyre Touches Record 32; Lead Pack at Cajon Oval

Pat McIntyre of Spring Valley tied Russ Bullen's all-time mark of 32 main event wins during a career when he streaked to a quarter-lap victory in the 40-lap super stock main event at Cajon Speedway Saturday night.

With 3,696 fans cheering him on, the four time champion moved from his 13th starting position to take the checkered flag in front of Gary Crossland of San Diego. Mike Hagerman of El Cajon chased Crossland during the final rounds, but had to settle for third.

The main event was only slowed twice for yellow flags. On lap 5 Ernie Bartley spun in turn 2, and on lap 19 George Esau and Hilton Vail spun in the first turn. At the finish 21 of the 22 starters were still running.

This Week
Defending champions Pat McIntyre and Barbara Baxter of El Cajon will once again be the drivers to beat when the El Cajon Stock Car Racing Ass'n holds forth Saturday night on the 3/8-mile paved Gillespie Field oval.

Race time is at 8 with the 4-lap trophy dash kicking off the action. In addition the men will do battle in four 8-lap heat races, a 10-lap consolation race, a 20-lap semi, and the 40-lap main event while women will show their racing form in a 10-lap event.

Pat McIntyre who holds a commanding 560 point lead in the men's division, will be shooting for his third main event win in a row in the 40-lap finale. Should the Spring Valley contractor be able to turn the trick, he will move past co-leader Russ Bullen of Bonita on the all-time list of main event winners.

Barbara Baxter, winner of all but one of the Powder Puff events this season, also sits with a comfortable margin in the women's division as the 1977 season draws to a close. Mrs. Baxter leads second place Holly Stahl by 295.

Time trials for the supers will begin at 7 p.m. The first race is scheduled for an 8:15 start.

Ektelon Signs 3 For Racquetball 'Team of Champs'

Jennifer Harding, Sarah Green and Mike Yellen have signed contracts to play racquetball as members of the "Team of Champions" fielded by Ektelon, San Diego-based manufacturer of racquetball accessories, during the 1978 tournament season beginning in September.

Harding, 26, and a resident of Milwaukie, Ore., begins her 3rd season of play with the Ektelon team. She won the Portland Rose Festival racquetball tournament and took top honors in the International Racquetball Ass'n. women's national doubles competition. In 1976, she won the National Racquetball Club's women's national doubles.

Green won the 1976-77 International Racquetball Ass'n. and National Racquetball Club national open championships, and the Southern Regional racquetball championship for the past three consecutive years. Green, 20, is a native of Memphis, had received partial sponsorship from Ektelon in season ended.

Yellen will represent Ektelon in junior division and men's professional division events. At 17, he is a degonized top national professional racquetball prospect, though he's only played the game for two-and-a-half years.

Yellen's first tournament win came during the Michigan States Doubles Championship. In 1976, he won the singles event in the Troy Open Racquetball Tournament in Troy, Mich., and the following month won the Racquettime Open Singles at Lavonia, Mich.

In October, Yellen won the singles competition of the statewide Michigan "Super 16 Tournament," an invitational event among Michigan's 16 top-ranked players.

Yellen rounded out the 1977 season by winning the Michigan State Doubles Championship and finishing fourth in both the junior and open divisions of the IRA's national tournament and taking third place in the National Racquetball Club's national competition last June.

TAKE FIVE

by John E. Wirges

It's a good feeling, knowing you're right. Especially when others have been going another way and in less than subtle ways telling you're wrong. It's even more a righteous gratification when the issues at stake are such deep-seated beliefs as God, football and a positive hatred for mowing the lawn.

It's usually this time of year I get a good shot from my housefrau. The conditions were ripe. The Padres were off on an extended road trip. My weekend was open and I hadn't laid a glove on the grass for a month... or two... or more.

"You'd better cut a firebreak around the house," she cracked. "The State Forest Service says all buildings in the wilderness have to have a clearing of more than 50 feet around them during the fire season."

"But we live in Clairemont," I explained, all the time knowing she would blast away with another salvo.

"The front of our house is in Clairemont," she agreed, sweetly. "The back of our place looks like the jungles of the upper Amazon."

"It really does, Dad," adds the number one daughter, just back from four years of living in South America, where she served in the Peace Corps, traveled and became a confirmed women-libber.

"I've seen the jungles of the Amazon and Mom's not far off."

It's digs like that I constantly get from a daughter who is lovely, smart, and completely non-understanding of a hard working father who is the last in a long line of male chauvinists. She has the audacity to question the proper order and maleness of things. Even unto sacrilege.

"Pray to God," says a bumper sticker on her car. "She will listen." And in her room another sign, "God made women in her image."

"How did a child of mine turn out like that," I asked?

"She takes after her mother," said her mother. "Go cut the grass."

Evil thoughts raced through my mind while I baked in the sun swinging a scythe to chop the back yard grass down to mowing size.

I felt deserted. The Padres were out of town. I couldn't find anybody to go fishing. It was almost too hot for golf. And there I was, slaving in a jungle thicket, doing, what really is, after all, women's work.

I was chopping away in slow rhythm to a growing head of steam when the lightning bolt hit me. It wasn't message from on high, but it almost was.

"The CHARGERS," I said aloud, "The beautiful CHARGERS."

"What was that?" my housefrau asked. "Your voice is muffled by the weed crop. If you're done, the garage needs cleaning and the kid's bathroom door is stuck."

"Nothing," I yelled, knowing in my heart that I had the answer. God was testing me. He flipped an open weekend at us to remind us of our mortal station, but in his wisdom and mercy, he also followed this examination with the beginning of the football season.

God, is after all, not only the son of man, but also a football fan. He must be in his positive glory when Notre Dame plays SMU. He wins no matter what the score.

And pro football must be his favorite brand of the game. There is public kneeling before every play on every Sunday of the fall and early winter. Surely he takes that as tribute.

And in the heat of summer he comes among us and places this terrible task of cutting grass upon us to make us all the more joyful for the beginning of football season.

It is time to join the Charger Backers get in on the scheme of things, buy season tickets and forget about such mundane things as cutting grass, cleaning garages and/or fixing the stuck bathroom door.

God is in his heaven as man and football fan and all is right in the world.

Sports Group To Give Auto

Some lucky sportsman or his spouse will drive home with a $9,600 fully-loaded Dodge Ramcharger to be given away at the 34th annual San Diego Ducks Unlimited fund-raising dinner party September 12 at the Town and Country Convention Center in Mission Valley.

The Ramcharger is said to be an ideal companion on camping, fishing and hunting trips. Tickets may be purchased from any DU committeeman, and the drawing will be held on the night of the party. It is not necessary to be present to win.

Rated as one of the city's top social events, DU Party guests will be treated to a gourmet dinner of boneless breast of capon with wild rice and wine, preceded by a complimentary cocktail hour. A new Ducks Unlimited waterfowl movie will be screened. Net proceeds from the party will help to restore and perpetuate duck breeding areas in Canada.

Chairman Nolan Wright invites the public to attend, but urged all to purchase dinner tickets early, since past DU parties have been sellouts.

The Ramcharger is being donated by the S.D. Dodge Boys.

Two Wrestling Championships On Tues. Card

Two championship wrestling matches are scheduled Tuesday at the Coliseum, 15th and E. sts in downtown San Diego.

American tag team champions Armando Guerro and Tom Jones put their belts on the line against the Gordman brothers, Black and Victor.

Chavo Guerro, the American champ, wrestles Roddy Piper, a sometimes referee. Chavo is betting his belt. Roddy is betting his referee's license. Piper will be the only wrestling champion with a referee's license at the Coliseum—if he wins. Chavo, if he wins, will keep his belt and have Piper's license, too. But it is uncertain what he will do with it.

In other bouts Rebel Bill Ash goes against Victor Rivera and the finale has Texas Red meeting Dynamite Don.

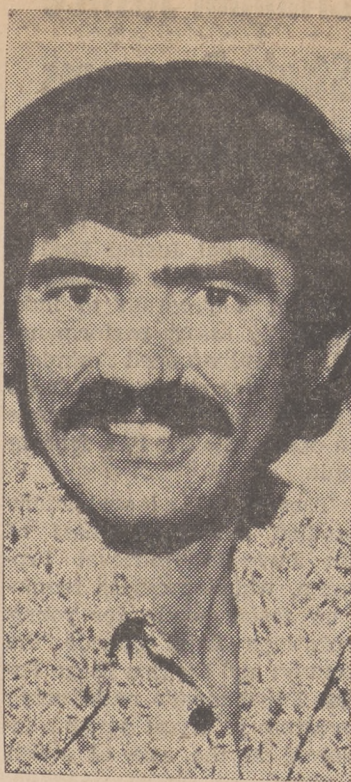

The curtain-raiser is at 7:30.

Rudy Suwara Takes Over S.D. Breakers

The San Diego Breakers, led by their new principal owner, president Rudy Suwara, announced Tuesday that the Breakers are here to stay.

A group of San Diego businessmen, including in part, Suwara, Paul, Gross and Dr. Charles Graham, has acquired control of the International Volleyball Assn. franchise. Additional local investors are being qualified.

Gross has been appointed acting general manager by Suwara.

"I'm very happy to keep the Breakers in San Diego," said Suwara, "and we are looking forward to many years of success."

Tasmanian Volleyball, Inc., Breakers' ownership, was transferred to the Suwara group from its previous entity controlled by Michael R. Krupp.

"I have a great deal of confidence in the coaching of Bill Wardrop, and I don't expect any changes in team personnel," Suwara added. "We have added local staff personnel to give us a truly big-league front office."

Michael F. O'Hara, executive vice president of the IVA, enthusiastically endorsed the leadership that Suwara will bring to the Breakers.

"As player-coach in 1976 Rudy led the team to the first league championship that San Diego has enjoyed in 13 years. We are now looking forward to his leadership in the administrative area, returning San Diego to its previous position as one of the strongest franchises in the league."

Gross commented, "I am looking forward to this exciting new venture. The competition is excellent, and we plan to reestablish the rapport enjoyed in past seasons with San Diego sports fans."

"In order to stress the wholesomeness of our product, for the whole family, we are inviting all San Diego families to attend tonight's match against Denver, and the following Thursday's match, August 11, against El Paso/Juarez, for a total of $8 per family for the best seats available."

Padres Farewell Trip To 3 Eastern Cities

The San Diego Padres will be bidding adieu to Philadelphia, Chicago and Montreal in the next few days as the club makes its final visit of the 1977 campaign to each of those National League cities.

The trio of cities actually makes up the second half of a 12-game road trip for the club, the second longest of the season.

San Diego will be closing out a three-game stand in Philadelphia with the rampaging defending Eastern Division champion Phillies tonight. Then, the Padres will be off to meet the surprising Chicago Cubs for four games in three days. The two clubs will collide in single affairs on August 5-6 and then close out the series with a doubleheader on Sunday, August 7.

Battle Seen

The Cubs have been perched atop the Eastern Division standings for most of the season, but now their once "comfortable" lead has dwindled to the point where it's going to be a three team race between Chicago, Philadelphia and Pittsburgh for the title.

"Any way you look at it, the Cubs have had a great season," said Padres manager Alvin Dark who came to the Padres at the end of May after having served as the Cubs first base coach.

"Nobody picked them to really do anything this season, but they've made things interesting in the East and showed a lot of people there are more clubs in the division than just the Phillies and Pirates."

San Diego will close out the road swing with two single games in Montreal against the Expos in the new Olympic Stadium on Monday and Tuesday, August 8-9.

The trip will feature the final meetings of the season between the Padres and the Phillies and Expos, but the club still has three dates remaining in San Diego Stadium with Chicago on September 2-4.

Looking into the next home-stand, the Padres will be forced to travel straight from Montreal back to the West Coast with no open date to go right into a doubleheader with the Atlanta Braves on Wednesday, August 10. The two clubs are slated for a 6 p.m.

twin bill that evening followed by a single game at 7 p.m. on the following day, August 11.

Also on the schedule during the club's brief homestand are two games with the Houston Astros on Friday, August 12 and Sunday, August 14. Game times are set for 7 p.m. and 1 p.m. respectively with Saturday being an open date.

Sups Tighten Welfare

The Board of Supervisors voted Tuesday to make "proof" of a Social Security number a requirement for welfare assistance for those on the Aid to Needy Children program.

State and Federal welfare rules require this proof but the County has not been strictly enforcing it, it was reported.

County officials said such proof will help reduce fraudulent claims.

Strong R. E. Market

A 550% increase in secondary market sales, including the issuance of Government National Mortgage Assn. securities, has helped to sustain a high level of construction in California and to maintain a reasonable interest rate, Home Federal Savings and Loan Assn. announced.

The association's sales have totalled $237 million for the first half of 1977 as compared with $43 million for the same period in 1976.

Friars to Try First Win Over Cleveland Tonight

The report out of Cleveland is partly cloudy.

"I really enjoy team tennis, it's an interesting experience," said back-to-back Wimbledon champion Bjorn Borg. "But I just wish the team were winning more."

Borg tops men's singles in the WTT but the Cleveland Nets are no better than third in the eastern division. But you can't convince the San Diego Friars the Nets aren't first. San Diego hasn't been able to beat Cleveland in three tries this season and the two teams will meet for a final time tonight in the Sports Arena starting at 7:30.

So confident is the San Diego management of a victory that fans have been guaranteed a win or their ticket stubs will be honored for a free admission Saturday night against the Boston Lobsters.

Boston is no easier of an opponent with Tony Roche, Martina Navratilova and Roy Emerson pooling their talents to make the Lobsters an eastern division leader.

Cleveland has defeated San Diego 26-27 (in a super-tie-breaker), 15-31 and 22-30.

In his personal confrontation with Rod Laver in singles, Borg holds a 2-1 edge, losing the opening duel 6-3 but coming back to win the following pair of sets 6-0 and 6-3.

Cleveland is not all Borg, just as the Friars are not exclusively represented by Laver.

Marty Riessen is an all-star of major qualifications while Wendy Turnbull and Peggy Michel have not always treated the Friars with benevolence.

The Friars have their own misgivings about Cleveland, which is understandable since the results have not promoted excessive confidence. Borg not always has been the problem. San Diego's men's doubles, for instance, also are winless against the Nets while in women's singles the Friars are 1-2.

You expect that the figures should be reversed Thursday night. That's how management feels, too.

Shelter Pets Must Now Be Neutered

Animal population control is the focus of an ordinance adopted by the County Board of Supervisors.

Effective August 12, the County will require the neutering of male cats and the spaying of female cats and dogs within six months of the time the animal is adopted from any of the County's animal shelters.

The ordinance requires pet owners to deposit an amount of money, comparable to veterinarian's neutering fees, with a trust fund established by the County Department of Animal Control.

The new ordinance mandates pet owners to get animals from the shelters spayed or neutered within six months or face losing the deposit as well as being cited with a misdemeanor. The deposit will be refunded by the County when they receive proof the animal has been neutered.

State law requires cats can not be taken from animal shelters unless they have been spayed or neutered.

Prior to the recent ordinance, the County had no means of meeting the requirements. Hence, many of the animals in the shelters had to be destroyed on these grounds.

"This is not the answer—but one answer," said County Animal Control director Encl Rains, "It is a positive method of controlling the population of animals."

An additional program requiring the neutering of male dogs is forthcoming.

INVESTMENT IN ECOLOGY — Owner Tom Stein and employee Pat Neidermeyer load Dutch Cleaners' new $25,000 dry cleaning machine, the first of its kind in San Diego County. Dutch Cleaners, 7870 Broadway, Lemon Grove, installed the new unit to beat expected state ecology regulations on dry cleaning solutions, to give workers a safer working environment, and to filter all harmful solutions from waste water.

Grove Dry Cleaner Beats State With New Machine

First for Lemon Grove as well as San Diego County, a Lemon Grove dry cleaner has installed a machine which not only filters harmful solutions from waste water but beats proposed regulations from state ecology officials.

Owner Tom Stein of Dutch Cleaners, 7870 Broadway, Lemon Grove, beat proposed state regulations last week by installing a $25,000 dry cleaning machine which emits only distilled water as a by-product.

Owner Stein said state officials were currently reviewing proposed regulations which would make such machines mandatory in all dry cleaning operations.

"I ordered the machine in March," said Stein, "and since then the price has jumped ten per cent. By the time the state mandates these machines for every operation, who knows what the price will be."

The new machine was delivered to Dutch Cleaners last week, nearly four months after it was ordered.

Stein said the new unit replaced four other units.

Basically, the new machine filters nearly all the harmful dry cleaning solutions from waste water through and system of charcoal filled "stills". What is left after this process is dry cleaning fluid which may be reused and distilled water.

Currently, all other dry cleaning operations in San Diego county dump some dry cleaning solution into sewer systems.

Stein said many other operations, with the exception of four other dry cleaners in San Francisco and northern California which now have these units, dump contaminated waste water.

He added the machine makes work easier on employees and does a better job on synthetic fabrics.

Older dry cleaning machines have a tendency to stretch synthetics, Stein said.

SAY Program to Start

Serving American Youth, (SAY) an innovative juvenile counseling program was started Monday in the North and East County areas.

SAY personnel will work closely with the courts, the Probation Department and the schools in order to provide effective counseling and services to delinquent youth and youth on the verge of delinquency.

Criminal Justice Study Programs Eye Runaways

Two study reports by the new Criminal Justice Evaluation unit recently released as part of a program to independently assess performance of federally-funded criminal justice projects in San Diego County, recommends a change in one — the S.D.P.D. fencing unit.

These initial evaluations studied the effectiveness of the Juvenile Retrieval Program, which provides temporary foster homes for young runaways from outside the county; and the San Diego Police Department's anti-fencing program to arrest persons involved in the sale of stolen property.

The evaluation staff works within the Comprehensive Planning Organization (CPO) under agreement with the Regional Criminal Justice Planning Board (RCJPB). The planning board selects and reviews programs for evaluation which are funded by the federal Law Enforcement Assistance Administration (LEAA).

The evaluations are an effort to provide information to local officials on the effectiveness of local criminal justice programs and aid in decisions on future programs.

Recommendations made to the Planning Board in one of the two evaluations calls for continued local support of the program for runaways, operated under a contract between the YMCA and the County Probation Department. The program uses foster parents who take runaway youth into their homes until they can be returned to their parents or guardians.

The second recommends that the San Diego Police Dept. cut back the number of officers in the fencing unit and limit their activities to the San Diego City limits.

The evaluation noted that the Sheriff's Department also operates a fencing unit to deal with the problem throughout the County. The report concludes that this may result in duplication of services where both law enforcement agencies conduct stolen property investigations.

It was also shown that the establishment of undercover storefront fencing operations is an effective way to arrest and convicted burglars, and to recover property.

The evaluation unit was intentionally put under the staff direction of CPO in order to ensure that the studies would be made independent of the Regional Criminal Justice Planning Board, which makes the funding decisions for criminal justice programs.

Evaluations were conducted by Scott H. Green, Senior Criminal Justice Evaluator; and Susan Pennell, Asst. Criminal Justice Evaluator, both members of the CPO staff.

Metro Water Cut Program Started

The Metropolitan Water District is asking all Southern Californians to "Do a good turn and save water" in a new public information campaign designed to encourage water conservation.

The campaign, which includes radio and television public service announcements, billboard, a four-color brochure and bumper stickers, is part of Metropolitan's continuing public education program to promote conservation, according to John H. Lauten, the District's general manager.

Since the first of the year, Metropolitan has distributed nearly 10 million pieces of literature listing simple, but effective, methods to save water.

Theme of the summer conservation program is "Do a good turn. Save water."

"We need a 10 per cent cutback in use every month through the end of the year so we can go into 1978 with enough water in storage as a cushion against a third year of drought or any emergency."

County to Fund Program For Indigent Guilty

The County Board of Supervisors voted 3-0 to appropriate $40,000 for the Court Referral Program for the 1977-78 fiscal year.

The Court Referral Program was established as an alternative for those convicted persons unable to pay a fine for whom a jail sentence would be inappropriate. The U.S. and California Supreme Courts have already held that a convicted person can not be jailed because of inability to pay a fine.

The program is also designed to help alleviate overcrowding and operational expenses in the San Diego County jails.

The program is administered by the Volunteer Bureau of United Way of San Diego County. United Way puts court referred volunteers to work in non-profit human services agencies. The referred person serves a specified period of time prescribed by the Court and their progress is reported back to the Courts.

The Municipal Courts are already using the program, referring between 150 and 200 persons per month.

According to County officials, results of court assigned 51 members of S.D. County's Knickerbikers Club will leave Saturday on their 3rd annual biking tour through Western Canada's scenic provinces of British Columbia and Alberta.

Departing Los Angeles International Airport on Canadian Pacific Air's 7 p.m. non-stop flight to Vancouver, the Knickerbikers will spend the next two weeks pedaling through Jasper and Banff National Parks to Lake Louise and Calgary, Alberta.

The 650-member Knickerbikers Club, founded by San Diego resident Harmon Harris in May, 1974, schedules nearly 250 events each year including local bike rides, night-time dinner rides and overnight tours.

The group will spend two days in Vancouver, five days in Jasper, two days each at Lake Louise, Banff and Calgary before returning by rail to Vancouver where the members will board a CP Air jet for the non-stop flight to Los Angeles.

Burgeoning Food Stamps

Seventeen million people now receive food stamps worth a total of $5.3 billion.

Results of court assigned volunteer service have shown a decided change in attitude on the part of the volunteer. Court referred volunteers have expressed appreciation and see justice in the option of performing community service work in lieu of fines they cannot afford to pay, according to a report submitted to the Board of Supervisors.

Previously, the Court Referral Program was financed chiefly by a Federal grant. However the project is no longer eligible for federal funding and the Board of Supervisors decided to fund the program from the County's General Fund.

Rates Pending

Many Local Tax Rates May Remain the Same

By Fred Ash

A spot check of the tentative tax rates for the Lemon Grove/Spring Valley area has shown the rates will largely remain the same even though assessments have risen 15.11 and 38.5 per cent respectively.

On July 12, County Auditor Gerald Lonergan reported the findings of his reassessment of spring 1977. From this report, it was first thought assessments rose greatly during 1976-77.

According to Lonergan, the figures represent a three year increase in assessments since the last time many of the districts in the Lemon Grove-Spring Valley area were assessed was 1973.

The following is a list of anticipated tax rates for 1977-78 as they stack up this week. All the listed rates are subject to change by the Board of Supervisors who will meet in late August to finalize rates.

Taxing Agency	1976 Rate	1977 Rate	Change
COUNTY TAX	$2.24-2.28	$1.79-1.85	Down $.42-.45
SCHOOLS:
Lemon Grove Elm.	2.778	2.850	Up .06
Spring Valley-La Mesa Elm.	1.639	NA	Rate Pending
Grossmont-Cuyamaca Col.	1.031	NA	Slightly less
HOSPITALS:
Grossmont Hosp.	.146	.145	Down .001
FIRE DISTRICTS:
L.G. Fire Dist.	.867	.867	No change
S.V. Fire Dist.	1.178	1.15	Down .02
S.V. Fire Debt	.008	.005	Down .003
S.V. Special Rate	.076	.038	Down .038
PARK DISTRICTS:
S.V. Park & Rec.	.198	.220	Up .022
WATER DISTRICTS:
Otay Water Dist.	.12-2.50	same	No change
Helix Water Dist.	No assessments levied since 1972-73

Of the schools reporting, slight increases were logged from both the Lemon Grove School District and the Grossmont High School District.

In Lemon Grove, the six cents increase was attributed to cut backs in state financing and a 6 to 7 per cent inflation rate. The Lemon Grove school budget was the most stable of the documents reviewed, showing alternating decreases and increases by a few cents each year since 1972.

According to Lemon Grove Superintendent Dr. Robert Sutton, the state is expected to cut back funding to the local schools by 3.35 per cent.

Essentially, the higher assessments logged by County Auditor Lonergan has made the Lemon Grove School District appear wealthier to state Department of Education officials.

The Grossmont High School tax, according to Dr. John C. Barrons, Assistant Superintendent, will waver between going up three or going down three cents.

Barrons said the district did not collect the full amount allowed last year, some $600,000, and may elect to pick up some of that difference this year.

Ernie Twiss, information officer for Grossmont College, said he expected the tax rate for the college district to be "slightly less" than the $1.03 of 1976-77.

Twiss also said the Grossmont College tax would include funding for Cuyamaca College currently under construction in Spring Valley.

A spokesman for the La Mesa-Spring Valley school district said the board would meet in early August to determine tentative figures.

FIRE DISTRICTS

Most of the fire districts' tax rates will remain the same yet a special rate assessed in Spring Valley in a part of the district serviced by the Otay Water district will show the greatest drop. Taxes will be cut in half in this district from about 7 1/2 cents to less than 4 cents.

OTHER CHANGES

Grossmont Hospital logged a decrease in taxes of 1/10 of a cent.

Otay Water District's Jerry Hardy said Otay has a spread of rates ranging from a low of 12 cents to a high of 2.50, depending upon construction of new pipelines.

The Helix Water District has not levied a tax since 1972-73.

None of the tax rates listed will be finalized until the Board of Supervisors meet in late August to review figures. Also included in the final bill are taxes from special districts.

Many of these districts cover specialized services such as lighting and some street maintenance in unincorporated areas not covered by county general funds.

New Commission Triples Budget in Three Years

A general state-wide tax increase for virtually every Californian will start showing up on electric bills.

According to Iris Sankey, San Diego representative on the State Board of Equalization, there has been a "sizeable increase" in the budget of the Energy Commission.

"The Governor," said Sankey, "is requesting a hidden general tax increase for state government."

Sankey said the Board of Equalization was forced by law to approve a rise in the rate of the electrical surcharge on electrical bills.

The local board member said the Energy Commission, which was formed in 1975, now has a larger budget than the Public Utilities Commission founded in 1911.

This year, more than $20 million was allocated for the Energy Commission. The group was started on $6 million in 1975 and received $14.5 million last year.

Last year there were 375 paid staff positions. This year, the budget will allow the hiring of 200 more staff positions.

Sankey pointed out under the law which created the Energy Commission, the Board of Equalization is required to determine the surcharge rate necessary to raise the amount of money budgeted for operations of the Commission. The Equalization Board also has no jurisdiction over setting the bottom line price tag or Commission expenditures.

Monument Extends Hours

Federal Contract Awarded to S.V. Elevator Firm

The "go ahead" buttons have been pushed for a Spring Valley based elevator builder on a $700,000 project to supply nine elevators for the Federal Office Building in Anchorage, Alaska.

A spokesman for U.S. Elevator Company, 2500 Sweetwater Springs Blvd., said construction began July 22 on the Anchorage building and will be completed by October 1978.

The federal project was one of four contracts totaling some $1 million the company has secured this summer.

Largest project lined up was for 10 special units costing $1.1 million at the Grays Harbor nuclear plant near Seattle.

Also among the projects was four elevators for the new nine-story Shenandoah Hotel in Las Vegas and for three units in the Kaiser Richmond Medical Office Building in Richmond, California.

B of A's Property Loans Increase 111 Per Cent

Bank of America is reporting an 111 per cent increase in long term real estate loans taken out during the first six months of this year.

Mike Hogan, a spokesman for the bank, said the real estate volume topped 1.36 billion, more than doubling from loans made during the same period in 1976.

Senior Vice President George H. Haley said demand for income-producing property from out-of-state and foreign investors was one of the reasons for the unusually high levels.

'Fantasticks' Out 'Owl' In At Coronado Playhouse Fri.

For a while it looked as though it might be eternal. And it may very well be.

It is the stage show "The Fantasticks" which opened on the Coronado Playhouse stage in April and was still riding the wave of popularity when it was displaced, this week, by "The Owl and the Pussycat."

"Fantasticks", Playhouse people vow, will be back when the present schedule of plays is completed.

"Owl" opens a 6-week run Friday with presentations on Friday and Saturday at 8:30 and on Sunday at 7:30.

"Fantasticks" has already established one of the longest continuously run shows in the history of the American Theatre in New York.

It's the story of a boy, a girl, two fathers and a wall. It's simple story of young love and frustration with a happy ending.

The props and scenery are sparse — a few wooden benches, a large trunk from which El Gallo, (radio announcer Greg Dumas) produces two very funny characters. They are Henry (Robert Papenbrook) and Mortimer, (Scott W. McKinney) who are supposed to kidnap the girl,

Lungs an Asset in Laughing Contest

A record of 50 minutes will be the time to beat at the second annual Laughing Contest, one of the events scheduled during San Diego's America's Finest City Week.

The contest, set for August 27 in the Mission Valley Center Mall, boasts to draw laughter from all over the county in attempts to beat the record set last year.

Jackie Del Bene, age 13, set the contest record last summer when she laughed non-stop for 50 minutes.

The winner of this year's event will have their humorous heaves submitted to the Guinness Book of World Records.

Other classes for the utterances will be for the most hilarious laugh, the loudest, and the most unique.

SDG&E Stock Up 9 Cents in '77

There is good news in the offering for the stock holders of San Diego Gas and Electric Company.

Despite increased costs, second quarter earnings per share of common stock rose nine cents between second quarter 1976 and second quarter 1977.

A share of the stock was worth 52 cents in 1976 and is now worth 61 cents.

The increase was attributed to a July 20 ruling by the California Public Utilities Commission to approve a $9.4 million rate increase for SDG&E.

Serrano—What the Court Believed

Editors Note:

This is part two of a three part series by State Superintendent of Public Instruction Wilson Riles on the implications of the Serrano Decision on the way California finances its schools.

SACRAMENTO—Is it really all that important that equal educational opportunity be provided for all young people in California?

The state supreme court in its historic Serrano ruling had no doubt about the answer.

It said schooling is essential, both for individuals and society. And, since education is so important, it is unfair of educational opportunities available to a child are dependent on the property value of the school district in which he or she lives, the court added.

In addition, the court continued, "the need for an educated populace assumes greater importance as the problems of our diverse society become increasingly complex."

In the early years of our nation, compulsory schooling was adopted by the states as a means of insuring that all children received enough knowledge to function effectively as citizens in a democratic society. After all, it was argued, a government of the people required educated citizens.

zens.

This concept of education for citizenship remains a basic value of public schooling today.

Census Bureau data indicate that the more education a person receives, the more likely that person is to vote and to participate in community activities.

Historically

After the Civil War, economic factors stimulated an extension of public schooling to include high schools.

Transformation of the economy from agriculture and trade to business and industry required a better educated work force.

Americans came to recognize that schooling to age 14 or 16 was a benefit to both individuals and the nation.

Economists now believe that the growth in real per capita income in this country over the past 50 years has been due as much to investments in knowledge and education as it has been to investments in plants and equipment.

Social scientists now acknowledge that formal schooling contributes substantially to how individuals feel about and understand themselves, their fellow humans and the world in which we live.

Recent Developments

Americans have traditionally demanded more from their schools than education for citizenship and education for economic growth.

In recent years our public schools have been in the vanguard of national efforts to provide more equal opportunities for minorities, women, and the mentally and physically handicapped.

It is well known, for example, that more education usually means higher lifetime earnings.

Not so well known is that more education usually means that there is less chance a person will be unemployed or will engage in criminal activities.

The majority of those who are unemployed in this nation never completed high school. And nearly 90 percent of all adult prisoners in our jails are high school drop outs.

In short, the quality of life in our society is inexorably linked to the quality and scope of education provided our citizens.

That's why we can't afford to "solve" the equity problem of the Serrano decision by settling for statewide mediocrity in public schooling. It would be legal but immoral. It would irreparably damage the quality of life in California.

We need to seize this opportunity to solve the Serrano problem through a comprehensive reform of the way we pay for public schools. While working to provide equity in school finance, we should simultaneously strive to provide equality of educational opportunities and quality education programs.
